

The Essentiality of Privacy

Privacy has no exact boundary.
It can be the little secrets in your diary.
It is something to be enjoyed,
For it protects us from being annoyed.

Privacy is a basic human right,
That is granted to everyone alike.
It is an important element
In a society that emphasizes on improvement.

Privacy is an assurance,
That the flow of information has a balance.
My private life and identity,
Should bother me to the least possibility.

Privacy is to be respected,
It must not be neglected.
Leave one another a little space,
And we can civilize our society at a faster pace.

Author: Lam Ka Ian