Attn.: Ms. Anthea Tsang

Dear Ms. Tsang,

Public Consultation : Proposed Guidelines on Election-related Activities in respect of the Legislative Council Election

Thank you for your letter of 9 March 2020 enclosing the “Proposed Guidelines on Election-related Activities in respect of the Legislative Council Election” (Proposed Guidelines) in the course of public consultation.

Background

2 According to the EAC, the Proposed Guidelines are prepared on the basis of the existing guidelines for the LegCo Election (June 2016 edition) with suitable revisions. Many of the changes are for alignment purpose and similar changes have been incorporated in the Guidelines for the Rural Representative Election issued in October 2018 and the Guidelines for the District Council Election issued in September 2019. We now offer our views on the Proposed Guidelines as follows.

Chapter 2 : Composition, Registration of Electors and Voting System for Geographical Constituencies

Warning Notice in Prescribed Form

3 We notice that an important notice has been included in paragraph 2.34 of the Proposed Guidelines, warning that information relating to a person contained in any register of electors or in any extract of any register of electors can only be used for election-related purposes under the electoral legislation. Any abuse or misuse of information is a criminal offence under the relevant electoral regulations and that it may attract a maximum fine of Level 2 ($5,000) and imprisonment for 6 months [section 22(3) of the Electoral Affairs Commission (Registration of Electors) (Legislative Council Geographical Constituencies) (District Council Constituencies) Regulation (Cap 541A)]. The same notice is also included in paragraph 9.21 of the Proposed Guidelines.

4 Given that personal information in the register of voters might have been used for doxxing [which is a criminal offence under section 64 of the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (PDPO)] during the social incidents last year and the public has been concerned about this issue, we recommend the EAC consider including a warning notice in a prominent position of its prescribed forms for election (where appropriate and where personal data entered therein may be disclosed in any register of voters) to the effect that misuse of personal information may attract a maximum penalty of a fine of $1million and an imprisonment of five years. You may wish to take reference from the Transport Department, which has included such a warning in one of its prescribed form (see Annex).

Chapter 4 : Nomination of Candidates

Other Forms of “Address” (apart from Residential Address)

5 Page 2 of the Appendix mentions that the Returning Officer would state the "address" of each candidate in the notice of validly nominated candidates published in the Gazette in accordance with the amendments made to section 21 of the EAC (Electoral Procedure) (Legislative Council Election) Regulation (Cap 541D) in January 2020. If we understand it correctly, the “address” of candidates to be published in the Gazette for the coming LegCo election may not necessarily be residential addresses. “Addresses” such as GPO Box or office addresses, which are less privacy intrusive, are permissible.

6 We take the view that the word “address” in section 21(4)(b) and (4A)(c) of the aforementioned regulation in paragraph 5 above¹ would be wide enough to cover other forms of address, apart from an individual’s residential address. This is construed in the context of the entire piece of electoral legislation. For instance, Section 23(8) of the same EAC (Electoral Procedure) (Legislative Council Election) Regulation (Cap 541D) provides that a notice of appointment must be in writing and state the name, identity card number and “residential address” of the election agent.² That provision clearly stipulates that “residential address” of the election agent is to be provided.

7 We welcome the use of a less privacy intrusive address as it affords better personal data privacy protection to a validly nominated candidate.

8 Nevertheless, paragraph 4.47 of the Proposed Guidelines on “Notice of Valid Nominations” does not explicitly spell out the relaxed measure of allowing the candidate to provide “address” other than his residential address. We, however, notice that in paragraph 7.13 of the Proposed Guidelines, the term “correspondence address” is used instead. Paragraph 7.13 provides that the Returning Officer must also display in a prominent place outside his office a notice of the particulars of the election agents [section 24(7) of the Electoral Affairs Commission (Electoral Procedure) (Legislative Council) Regulation (Cap 541D)].

9 We therefore suggest that paragraph 4.47 of the Proposed Guidelines be amended to explicitly highlight the change. We further suggest that the term “correspondence address” be used, if appropriate, because it is even clearer than “address”. Examples of “correspondence address” may be given.

Chapter 5 : Polling and Counting Arrangements

Production of HKID Card / Identity Document

10 We notice that according to paragraph 5.86 of the Proposed Guidelines, members of the public and the media have the rights to observe the count at the counting station. However, the Presiding Officer and the Chief Returning Officer “may take down the name and number of HKID/passport/ travel document of the members of the public before they enter the public area for record purpose”. For obvious reasons and for all practical intent and purposes, what would likely be taken down would be HKID Card number in most cases.

11 Under paragraph 2.3 of the “Code of Practice on the Identity Card Number and Other Personal Identifiers” (the “Code of Practice”) published by this office,³ a data user should not collect the HKID Card number of an individual except in situations specified therein. These exceptions include statutory requirements, necessity grounds for the exercise of a judicial or quasi-judicial function, etc. One of the exceptions is quoted in paragraph 2.3.4.2 of our Code of Practice, i.e. “as the means for the future identification of the holder of the HKID Card where such holder is allowed access to premises or use of equipment which the holder is not otherwise entitled to, in circumstances where the monitoring of the activities of the holder after gaining such access or use is not practicable”.

12 We understand that the background leading to this proposed arrangement is that on the polling day of the 2019 District Council ordinary election, “disruptive acts took place in some counting stations where there were members of the public arguing, shouting, and even insulting electoral staff and interfering with the counting process” as stated in a press statement issued by the EAC on 9 March 2020.⁴ Given the general principle as stated in paragraph 2.2 of our Code of Practice, which states that “... before a data user seeks to collect from an individual his HKID Card number, the data user should consider whether there may be any less privacy-intrusive alternatives to the collection of such number, and should wherever practicable give the individual the option to choose any such alternative in lieu of providing his HKID Card number ...”, we do invite you to reconsider whether your proposed arrangement is adequately justified as an exception in paragraph 2.3.4.2 of our Code of Practice. We consider that a less personal data privacy intrusive method should be seriously considered.

Chapter 15 : Exit Poll

13 Paragraphs 15.4 and 15.12 of the Proposed Guidelines indicate that exit polls are to approved by the EAC and an organisation applying for the conduct of exit poll must make a statutory declaration to abide by the relevant terms and the guidelines. Paragraphs 15.4 and 15.5 further set out certain requirements imposed by the EAC, e.g. the organisation has to ensure that the result of exit poll must not be announced to any candidate and other person before the close of poll, the interviewers should make clear to the electors that participation in the exit poll is entirely voluntary.

14 It is most important that the identity of an elector who participates in an exit poll is kept strictly confidential. From previous communication with the EAC in the past, we understand that organisations which apply for conducting exit poll in Village Representation Election will have to undertake not to collect and maintain any personal data relating to the identity of the electors.⁵ We suggest the EAC state explicitly the requirement of undertaking not to collect and maintain personal data relating to the identity of the electors during conduct of an exit poll. Again, whether it is more appropriate to include this requirement in the Proposed Guidelines or the relevant terms and the guidelines governing the conduct of exit poll, we would leave it in the discretion of the EAC.

Other Recommendations

15 This office published two investigation reports, one in 2017 on loss of notebook computers containing personal data of election committee members and electors⁶ and one in 2019 on loss of a marked final registers of electors.⁷ Though

⁵ See Paragraph 12 of the PCPD's Submission made in 2012

⁶https://www.pcpd.org.hk/english/enforcement/commissioners_findings/investigation_reports/files/PCPD_Investigation_Report_R17-6429_Eng.pdf

⁷https://www.pcpd.org.hk/english/enforcement/commissioners_findings/investigation_reports/files/PCPD_Investigation_Report_R19_5120_Eng.pdf

the recommendations in these reports are primarily related to the data breach incidents, some of them do have general application which we urge you to consider in all election-related activities :-

- (a) When conducting all election-related activities, the personal data for access or use should only be made available on a “need-to-know” and “need-to-use” basis so as to minimise the risk of data breach, especially when portable storage devices such as notebook computers are involved.
- (b) Do not store personal data in notebook computers or portable storage devices unless absolutely necessary. If it is necessary to store the electors’ personal data in notebook computers or other portable storage devices, there should be effective technical security measures according to the quantity and sensitivity of the data, e.g. two-factor authentication in data access, automatic system lock or automatic data wipe upon several times of unsuccessful login, installation of location tracking software.
- (c) Formulate, systematically review and update your current personal data security policies and practical guidelines (including on-line and off-line) according to its functions and activities to ensure that the information on handling personal data is up-to-date.
- (d) Effectively disseminate the personal data security policies to all staffs to ensure that they know and understand the policies and requirements. Clear ways to access the relevant information promptly should also be provided.
- (e) A regular and systematic compliance check mechanism should be in place to ensure compliance with the personal data security policies, procedures and practical guidelines.

- (f) Simple, clear and easy-to-follow guidelines and procedures for future elections should be drawn up, and sufficient and effective training should be provided for polling and other responsible staff with a view to heightening data protection sensitivity.
- (g) An effective mechanism should be established to record all movements associated with the electoral documents containing personal data beginning from its distribution to polling stations before elections to its disposal. Such mechanism could serve as an audit trail and alert staff attention whenever irregularities arise during the recording.
- (h) Regular data audits and dossier reviews should be conducted to ensure all movements of the electoral documents containing personal data are in fact accurately and properly documented.
